Article 1 The Industrial Design Application

An industrial design application may seek protection for one design only and shall contain:

- (a) a request;
- (b) a photograph or graphical representation of the design;
- (c) the document appointing the representative, if any;
- (d) a deed of assignment, if the applicant is the successor in title of the author;
- (e) a priority document where convention or exhibition priority is claimed;
- (f) in the case of derivation, the relevant document;
- (g) a fee for administrative services.

Article 2 The Request

The request shall contain:

- (a) the name (firm name) and address of the applicant; if there are several applicants, the shares of their entitlement if they are not equal;
- (b) the designation of the product to which it is intended to apply the design;
- (c) a declaration that the applicant is the author or his (her) successor in title and an indication if the design is an employee's design;
- (d) the name and address of the author; if there are several authors, the shares of authorships if they are not equal;
- (e) the name and address of the representative, if any;
- (f) when claiming convention or exhibition priority, a declaration to this effect, indicating the filing date, country and number of the foreign application, and the designation and date of the exhibition, respectively;
- (g) in the case of derivation, a declaration to this effect, indicating the reference number, as well as the filing and priority dates of the original application;
- (h) a petition for the grant of industrial design protection;
- (i) a list indicating the documents attached to the request;
- (j) the signature of the applicant (of all of the applicants) or of the representative.

Article 3 The Photographs and Graphical Representations

The photograph or graphical representation of the design shall be filed in six identical copies, the dimensions of which shall be 9 cm x 12 cm and the execution shall be such as to clearly represent the external shape of the product, from different angles if necessary. If a color or colors are characteristic of the design, the photographs or graphical representations shall be filed in color.

Article 4 Application of Formal Provisions

The provisions of this Announcement shall apply to industrial design applications filed after March 1, 1979.
