

14.03

Filing date of a new application for design registration resulting from division and the handling of the filing date in a case where the gist of the new application's design goes beyond the scope of the design stated in the earliest application and the drawings attached thereto of the application for design registration before the division

If a new application for design registration resulting from division (Design Act 10-2) has a gist that goes beyond the scope of the design stated in the earliest application and drawings attached thereto of the original application for design registration, the examiner should proceed with examination considering the date on which the new application for design registration resulting from division has been filed as the filing date.

In this case, this fact should be notified to the applicant for design registration in the name of the examiner.
